

Green colouring for a blue planet

This site is one of our favourites! It features illustrations representing over 40 green actions that are simple to do.

"The project was founded by Nicole Maubert, illustrator and designer, in collaboration with two Swiss schools who listed, in their own words, 40 simple acts that anyone can do. It's a green colouring book that raises children's awareness on protecting our little blue planet. Approximately 50 youth designers and illustrators accepted to join forces for nature and offer two challenges to colour each week. All the drawings are free and can be downloaded from this site. Print them out on recycled paper and don't forget to use both sides of the sheet!"

Site: E-colouring project (<http://e-coloriage.blogspot.com>)

See you there! Here are some examples of illustrations:

I favour home cooked meals

I use a manual lawnmower

I take showers instead of baths

I turn off the faucet while brushing my teeth

I dry my clothes outside when the weather is nice

I fill the washing machine completely

I bring my own shopping bag and stop using plastic ones

I use my bike for short distances or go on foot

I turn off the lights when the sun is out

